Overview

GambleAware ('the charity') are looking to identify a provider(s) to develop and deliver a training programme for Gambling Harms Awareness and Support. The training will be delivered to key professionals and community leaders who work or volunteer in eight strategic sectors, namely: debt advisors, faith leaders, primary care, social care, occupational health, criminal justice settings, housing and homelessness services and community pharmacies across Great Britain.

The provider will be expected to work collaboratively with the charity, other key current and future training providers, and those with lived experience of gambling harms to deliver this project. The overall aim of the project is to reduce gambling harms amongst the public through early intervention and prevention.

The key outcome of the project is to improve the capabilities and capacity of organisations that work within the eight identified settings, so they are equipped to provide gambling harm education and prevention support to the public.

The training programme will be delivered over a three-year period across England, Scotland and Wales. The total grant funding for this project is up to £3 million.

About GambleAware

GambleAware is the leading commissioner of prevention and treatment services for gambling harms in Great Britain. It is an independent charity guided by a Board of trustees, the majority of whom work in the health sector.

In April 2021 GambleAware published a new five-year strategy which defined the charity's vision of a society where people are safe from gambling harms. This vision is based on a whole-system approach, which acknowledges the many other organisations, networks and individuals, including those who have lived experience of gambling harms, that already play a key role across the system, or have the potential to do so in the future.

To get to where GambleAware expects to be in five years, the charity must focus on delivering four commissioning objectives to be effective at helping to prevent gambling harms:

- Commissioning Objective 1: Increase awareness and understanding of gambling harms.
 - Commissioning Objective 2: Increase access to services and reduce gambling harm inequalities.

- Commissioning Objective 3: Build capacity amongst healthcare professionals, social prescribers, debt advisers, faith leaders, community services and others so they are better equipped to respond to gambling harms.
- Commissioning Objective 4: Deliver effective leadership of the commissioning landscape to improve the coherence, accessibility, diversity, and effectiveness of the National Gambling Treatment Service.

The work delivered under this programme will primarily contribute to Commissioning Objectives 1 and 3. GambleAware's full Organisational Strategy 2021-26 can be found here.

About the 'National Gambling Treatment Service'

The National Gambling Treatment Service (NGTS) is a network of organisations working together to provide confidential treatment and support for anyone experiencing gambling-related harms, free at the point of delivery. It is jointly commissioned by NHS England and GambleAware, and includes NHS, third sector and private sector providers delivering services across England, Scotland and Wales.

Wherever someone makes contact throughout this network these providers work alongside each other through referral pathways to deliver the most appropriate package of care for individuals experiencing difficulties with gambling, and for those who are impacted by someone else's gambling.

The NGTS provides care for over 12,000 individuals each year, with over 40,000 people contacting the National Gambling Helpline for advice, support and signposting to specialist intervention. Further details on the NGTS can be found in Appendix 1.

Background and Strategic Context

A clear need to strengthen and improve the existing treatment and support on offer was highlighted in GambleAware's Treatment Needs and Gap Analysis report¹. The need to develop routes into treatment and reduce existing barriers to accessing help was also identified. To achieve this, coordinated action is required between a range of agencies and with community members and those representing communities of people who have lived experience of gambling harms. Whilst legislation for regulation is principally a matter for government, politicians and regulatory bodies, there is a need to empower individuals with appropriate support. Specifically, a whole-system approach is required, involving partnership with the NHS, public health agencies, local authorities, and the voluntary sector.

Gambling harms are the adverse impacts from gambling on the health and wellbeing of individuals, families, communities, and society. The harms that arise from gambling are not distributed evenly across the GB population; and nor is the demand for treatment, support, and advice to help people manage those harms. The charity's knowledge in this area is limited to the whole population level but is growing. As a first step to inform GambleAware's commissioning, and to assist local and regional commissioners as well as service providers to respond to gambling harms in their local communities, GambleAware has worked with University College London to produce a series of maps. These estimate prevalence of harm, and from 2021, levels of treatment and support demand. The figures are based across GB at a local level and are estimated using commissioned survey data.

It is recognised that early intervention is important for the reduction of gambling harms. There are a wide range of groups of people working with the public who encounter individuals experiencing or at risk of experiencing gambling harms. These are often people working in sectors where individuals in the community turn to for help and advice, such as healthcare professionals, social prescribers, debt advisers, faith leaders, community services and others. People operating in these spaces can be well placed to offer early interventions for gambling harms, but many will have insufficient awareness, knowledge, and skills to identify and provide the appropriate support.

The drive for effective prevention of gambling harms is reinforced by evidence from research, evaluation, and those with lived experience of gambling harms. Raising the profile of the impacts of gambling harms on health and wellbeing also highlights the need for gambling harms to be recognised as part of the holistic improvement of population health.

Upskilling professionals and other key groups through training on the identification of gambling harms and providing effective early support contributes to the expansion of the NGTS provision and promotes a whole-system, community-based approach.

This new commissioned programme will be in addition to GambleAware's current portfolio of training and educational resources, with an increased scope it will reach more people geographically as well as being tailored to meet the needs of specific groups.

Relevant programmes recently funded by GambleAware have included:

- Citizens Advice \(CA\) England & Wales embedding gambling harms awareness and support into the core processes across the CA network through the Gambling Harms Help project (GHH). GambleAware recently published an independent process and impact evaluation

report² carried out by Kantar Public, into the Gambling Support Service England & Wales delivered by CA. The service commissioned by GambleAware from October 2018 – March 2021 delivered training, engagement and client support activities on gambling harms. Recommendations provided by the evaluation led to the current model of delivery through the GHH.

- Citizens Advice Scotland \(CAS\) delivering gambling harms training through their Gambling Support Service project to the CAS network, the wider debt advice sector and other key groups; engaging in awareness raising activity developing national and local connections and providing brief interventions to clients.
- The Royal Society for Public Health UK \(RSPH\) developing eLearning to support non-gambling specialists to deliver brief interventions to understand and respond to gambling harms and offering a Level 2 Award in ‘Tackling Gambling-Related Harms’ an Ofqual-regulated qualification.

Specification of requirement for this competition

The aim of the programme is to deliver training to those working with the public, to build and increase their awareness and knowledge of gambling harms, to enable them to effectively identify and support individuals experiencing or at risk of experiencing gambling harms. It is expected that training will encourage earlier intervention and will in turn facilitate a reduction in gambling harms.

- The training is to be targeted to those working or volunteering in settings where they might be more likely to be supporting people also experiencing gambling harms. GambleAware has reviewed findings from previous training programmes, consulted with stakeholders including those with lived experience, and reviewed academic evidence to identify eight key strategic groups to target with the training offer:
 - Debt advisors
 - Faith leaders (particularly those from minority faiths)
 - Primary care (particularly focussing on non-GP roles such as social prescribers and community link workers)
 - Social care
 - Occupational health
 - Criminal justice settings, (e.g., probation services, magistrates’ courts, police)
 - Housing and homelessness services
 - Community pharmacies

² https://www.begambleaware.org/sites/default/files/2021-06/Evaluation_of_the_Gambling_Support_Service_England_Wales_%28GSSEW%29_FINAL.pdf

- The expectation is that the training should actively target these core groups, although it could be made available to other sectors by request should resources allow.
 - The training is expected to reach groups across Great Britain and be available in every local authority area of England, Scotland, and Wales. It will need to make use of a range of delivery methods and be tailored to the health and care landscapes unique to each of the three countries.
 - The programme will ensure that practitioners, service providers and community leaders in these eight sectors are equipped with the knowledge, skills and resources to support people in preventing gambling harms by raising awareness of these harms, providing helpful brief advice, and by guiding people to the specialist support available if they need it.
 - The appointed provider(s) will be responsible for the development and delivery of training and resources, in collaboration with, and building on GambleAware's existing networks on a national and local level across each of the three nations of Great Britain.
 - The appointed provider(s) will need to work with and alongside existing and future providers of training on gambling harms awareness and intervention, playing a convening and collaborating role to bring together providers, fostering an environment of mutual support and development, rather than one of competition.
 - People with lived experience of gambling harms must be involved in the development of: the training content, delivery and supporting tools and resources.
 - Equality, diversity and inclusion policy and procedures should be at the heart of the service design, provision and day to day operations and be accurately monitored and measured.
 - The provider(s) should aim that the training will be accredited by an external awarding body, with accreditation achieved within the contract period.
 - Processes shall be in place to measure the impact of the training on the trained practitioners and members of the community who are the end beneficiaries of the training, including the allocation of resources to enable active engagement with the independent evaluation specialists commissioned by GambleAware.
 - Development and implementation of pre- and post-training surveys, with processes to ensure that feedback is taken into account in the ongoing development of the training, should be developed in collaboration with GambleAware and the selected external evaluation provider.

- Active engagement and involvement with an external evaluation process, as directed by GambleAware. GambleAware is committed to proportionate evaluation across all commissioned projects and programmes. It is important that projects and programmes are all monitored, and have evaluation frameworks in place, in order for there to be ongoing learning throughout the project and to contribute to the evidence base on what works in gambling education and prevention.

Expected Outcomes

The overall aim of the project is to reduce gambling harms amongst the public through early intervention and prevention.

The expected outcomes of the project are:

1. Increase knowledge amongst the eight identified sectors of:
 - the range of gambling harms and their impacts
 - gambling harms as experienced by affected others
 - available gambling harms support, tools and resources, including making referrals or signposting to specialist support, in particular to the National Gambling Treatment Service
 2. Enhance skills in:
 - prevention messaging in relation to gambling harms
 - the early identification of gambling harms and associated risks
 - the provision of brief interventions to those at risk of or experiencing gambling harms
 3. Support organisational readiness to respond to gambling harms by offering:
 - training to organisations where appropriate to develop their organisational processes to enable effective delivery of gambling harms brief interventions. Such training might make use of GambleAware's Brief Intervention Guide - Addressing risk and harm related to gambling.
 - content tailored to the specific contexts required, e.g., legislative, regional, professional group, cultural sensitivities and culturally appropriate methods
 - content in a range of formats/delivery modes to ensure accessibility and effectiveness, e.g., face to face, virtual, eLearning, use of technology

The expected impacts of the project are:

- System impacts:
 - Reduce existing barriers to accessing help, to develop additional routes into treatment and support and to reduce gambling harms.
- Public impacts:
 - Reduce harm (and associated public costs) caused by harmful gambling behaviours among those at risk of gambling harms through improved recognition and response to those harms.

Activities/Outputs

In order to meet the specification and deliver the intended outcomes, the provider will be required to deliver the following activities/outputs:

- Design, production, and delivery of a Gambling Harms Awareness and Support training programme, which takes into account the following contexts:
 - The landscape of health and social care systems which differ in each of the three nations of Great Britain.
 - The changing ways in which organisations may want to access training due to the impact of Covid-19.
 - The existing provider landscape, with which the successful bidder will be expected to engage to ensure there is no unnecessary duplication of effort or resource, and no creation of competition.
- Promotion and marketing of the training offer to encourage uptake.
- Consultancy and support for organisations in developing processes for identifying those at risk of gambling harms and signposting to support services.

3. Competition Selection Process and Bidders Questions

Bidder Selection Criteria

The winning bidder will be selected on the basis of the response, which is considered to provide the most practical, effective quality response, and is in accordance with the scoring and criteria set out in this invitation to tender.

Form of Response

Bidders must submit a response containing answers to the questions set out in the Bidders questions section.

The scoring methodology

Each question has been allocated a weighting (importance) 1-4; this weighting will be multiplied by a 0-5 score. By way of example, a question allocated the maximum weighting of 4 and that has been answered comprehensively, scoring a maximum score of 5, will have scored a total of $4 \times 5 = 20$ for that particular question.

Excellent	5	A comprehensive answer to an excellent standard with no reservations about acceptability – contains innovation.
Good	4	A very good standard with no reservations about acceptability answers the question well.
Acceptable +	3	An acceptable standard with minor reservations about acceptability.
Acceptable -	2	Acceptable standards with reservations that require review.
Serious Reservations	1	Adequate answer/meets minimum requirements - but serious reservations.
Unacceptable	0	Does not answer the question posed. Fails to meet the minimum requirements.

Summary of Evaluation Scoring

Bidders to note: Quality of this service is uppermost in our mind and that is reflected in the number of questions that surround quality versus the one question on cost. The cost question is however still an essential part of the overall scoring and as such the overall cost submitted will be viewed within the context of the overall proposal and scores allocated accordingly.

- 21.4 In the event that the parties cannot agree the amendment within 30 days of the date of commencing negotiation in accordance with clause 21.3, the provision shall to the extent of such invalidity, illegality or unenforceability, be deemed modified to the minimum extent necessary to make it valid, legal and enforceable. If either method of delivery is adopted, without prejudice to the validity of the agreement thus made, each party shall provide the others with the original of such counterpart as soon as reasonably possible thereafter.
- 21.13 No counterpart shall be effective until each party has executed and delivered at least one counterpart.
- 21.14 This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the law of England and Wales.

Schedule 1

RESEARCH & REPORT PRINCIPLES

Part 1 – Research ethics principles

The Recipient shall ensure that the Project complies at all times with good practice in research ethics. This is especially the case as much of the research commissioned involves vulnerable people.

The Recipient must:

1. Follow the code of practice for their discipline. Where there is not a discipline specific code of practice, the Economic and Social Research Council framework for research ethics must be followed.
2. Follow those process and procedures relating to ethics as set out in the Programme of Work.
3. Obtain ethical approval prior to commencement of the Project which must include scrutiny by an ethics review panel independent of the research team.
4. State in the Report how ethical approval and ethical concerns were addressed in undertaking the Project.

Part 2 – Data reuse principles

1. Research data and the Results are a public good which should be available publicly to third parties.
 2. The Recipient shall make available for reuse, primary data collected or generated during research or derived from existing sources, in a timely way, with as few restrictions as possible, compliant with ethics, privacy and intellectual property. Non-deposit of research data is an exception which must be justified. Specifically, research is required to adhere to the following requirements:
 - (a) Demonstrate no suitable data is available for reuse before creating new data.
 - (b) Make openly available research data, free of charge, as open data, safeguarded data or controlled data, with these different levels of security depending on the sensitivity and confidentiality of the data.
 - (c) Take account of legal, ethical and commercial constraints on release of research data, and plan at the initiation and through the research cycle how these will be managed, with the aim of maximising data reuse. This includes, where appropriate, obtaining informed consent for data sharing, anonymising data, and seeking data-sharing approval as part of ethical review.
 - (d) Provide sufficient metadata to ensure research data are discoverable and independently understood without recourse to the creator, and for the creators of the data to be cited.
 - (e) Make data which supports published research outputs findable and accessible at the same time as published outputs as far as possible. Publications should state how underlying research materials, including data, samples or models, can be accessed.

- (f) Deposit data for reuse with a responsible digital repository, which meets Research Council requirements, and which provides data assets in a way which are findable, accessible, interoperable and reusable.
- (g) Intellectual property contributions of researchers in the creation of data are recognised through citation, and abiding by the terms and conditions under which data is accessed.

Part 3 – Report principles

1. The Report shall be drafted in accordance with best practice for qualitative or quantitative research in accordance with the following:
 - (a) A literature review: the relevant background literature and empirical evidence will be considered and will shape projects aims, data collection and analytical work.
 - (b) Methodological approach: methods for data collection and analysis must be transparent and clearly communicated.
 - (c) Clear and full presentation of data and key findings.
 - (d) Discussion of key findings and recommendations: This section should clearly outline how the findings from the research contribute to the overall aim of the research program. It should answer the question of ‘so what?’ – setting out the implications and recommendations from the research for policy, practice and further research. The Report should also clearly explain the limitations and caveats.
2. The Report shall be available with a plain English language summary of research findings and implications.

Part 4 – Report submission

1. Prior to payment of the final payment of the Grant, the Recipient shall provide the Funder with a copy of the final report of the outcome of the Project drafted in accordance with the principles set out in Part 3 of this Schedule 1 (Research & Report Principles) and containing the Results (the “Report”). The Report shall be reviewed by:
 - (a) the Funder;
 - (b) the Responsible Gambling Strategy Board; and
 - (c) the Funder shall procure a peer review of the Report, to ensure that the Report satisfies such quality standards, skill, diligence and best practice expected in the Recipient's field of work. For the avoidance of doubt, neither the review by the Funder, the Responsible Gambling Strategy Board nor the peer review shall involve editorial control of the Report but shall be limited to the quality of the report, including ensuring that the Report satisfies evidentiary scrutiny and delivers on the purposes for which the Grant was awarded.

2. The Funder shall pay the Recipient the final payment of the Grant subject to:
 - (a) the Funder receiving confirmation that the Project has been successfully and properly completed;
 - (b) the Report being reviewed in accordance with clause 3.3 and the Funder being satisfied that the Report has been revised, where necessary and appropriate, to take account of the outcome of the review;
 - (c) the Funder being satisfied that the Report has been produced in accordance with such quality standards, skill, diligence and best practice expected in the Recipient's field of work; and
 - (d) the Report has been proof-read to a professional standard.

Part 5 – Publication

1. The Recipient shall refrain, and shall ensure that its Related Persons shall refrain, from publishing any Results prior to and for a period of [three (3)] months from the Report Delivery Date ("Report Review Period").
 2. At least 30 days prior to the end of the Report Review Period:
 - (a) the Recipient will discuss with the Funder its strategy for publication before it (or any of its Related Persons) publish any Results; and
 - (b) the Recipient will submit to the Funder, in writing, details of any proposed publication containing any Results that it or any Related Person intends to publish.
 3. Within 30 days of receiving a notice from the Recipient pursuant to 2(b) above the Funder may give a written notice to the Recipient ("Protection Notice") requiring that the Recipient is to delay the proposed publication for a maximum of six (6) month(s) after receipt of the Protection Notice, if, in the Funder's reasonable opinion:
 - (a) that delay is necessary in order to:
 - (b) seek patent or other protection for any of the Results that are to be published; and/or
 - (c) prevent the publication of any of the Funder's Confidential Information; and/or

(d) the proposed publication will negatively affect, conflict with or prejudice this Agreement or the objectives of the Project.

3.2 Upon receiving a Protection Notice, the Recipient shall refrain (and procure that its Related Persons refrain) from making the proposed publication for the period requested in the Protection Notice.

3.3 For the avoidance of doubt, the Funder must give the Protection Notice within 30 days after the Funder receives written notice of the proposed publication from the Recipient. If the Recipient does not receive a Protection Notice within that period, it or the relevant Related Person may proceed with the proposed publication.

MEDIA PROTOCOL

GambleAware's standard contracts and grant agreements state: "The parties shall agree a media protocol for each party to follow for the purpose of handling press and media enquiries in respect of the Project."

GambleAware works with a wide range of organisations which have varying levels of resources and experience available to them when dealing with media enquiries about a project which GambleAware is funding, so primarily this protocol is designed to offer support and advice.

It is important to emphasise that neither this protocol nor our grant agreements are intended to restrict in any way whatsoever the opinions our partners express in the media.

GambleAware works with Atlas Partners (GambleAware@Atlas-Partners.co.uk) who provide professional advice on our media relations, and their team is available to advise our partners as well.

To enable us to work effectively together, we ask that our partners:

- Inform GambleAware at the earliest opportunity whenever they are approached by the media about any project funded by GambleAware
- Where possible, give us the opportunity to contribute to any statements or responses made to the media
- Seek to ensure any coverage of the project credits GambleAware for its funding
- Ask media to publicise BeGambleAware.org alongside any coverage in order to provide access to advice and support
- Use our logos in accordance with any branding guidelines we make available.

Partners should also inform GambleAware of any serious incidents arising in connection with the projects or affecting participants which might attract media attention.

When it is informed about a media enquiry, GambleAware may provide a fact-sheet as a reference point for those dealing with enquiries in both organisations, so we can agree a joint position prior to engaging with the media.
